Margot Osborne : Nick Mount: Incandescence (SALA series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Nick Mount: Incandescence (SALA series):

From his beginning with the legendary Budgereee Glass company to the international acclaim he received for his stunning scent bottle series, the 30-year career and key artistic work of contemporary Australian glass blower Nick Mount is traced in this book. A range of Mount's work is exhibited and interpreted to reveal how he adapted traditional hot glass techniques to create works distinguished by incandescent color. The history of the blown-glass industry in Australia is discussed with information on Mount's role as a mentor and business pioneer.

About the AuthorMargot Osborne is an independent curator who specializes in contemporary Australian art, craft, and design. She is the former exhibitions curator for the Jam Factory Contemporary Craft and Design and a former editor of Broadsheet, a quarterly art journal.
