Florist Marcel Wolterinck's search for the essence of color is presented in 150 striking photographs of unique floral arrangements. Each season finds its voice: winter in the stark brown of slender willow branches set in a bronze vase; spring in a bouquet of pale yellow roses brimming from a white marble urn; summer in a stunning archway made from fiery red glory lilies; and autumn in a cloud of russet berries. Hardcover, 165 pages, 10 x 10 inches, 151 color
