Jack McKee : Woodshop for Kids before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Woodshop for Kids:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Not very intersting or well prepared projects, 2 stars only for the tool and safety explanationsBy J. TannThe projects are pretty terrible, and didn't interest any of my boys. The illustrations are poor, the final projects are hardly inspiring to what's possible, and the projects themselves are really "stretches" for what are considered projects: a keychain, literally a piece of wood with a hole; a tornado machine, involves two 2liter bottles and a washer...If you're looking for inspiration for something to do with your kids, this isn't your solution.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Walter GGreat book for young woodworkers.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy AshGreat projects for the little ones

Woodshop for Kids has you everything youll need to know to get kids (ages 4-12) started using real tools to build real projects. Safety, tools, wood, measuring, hammering, nails and screws are discussed. Included are many tricks gleaned from Jacks 15 plus years of helping kids build with wood. Construction details for 52 projects are given. Projects range from the very simple like wood sanding, tops or puzzles for preschoolers to the more advanced like boxes, boats, yahoo stick or rope machine for older elementary age kids. Included are many photographs of kid created projects.

.....WOODSHOP's 52 projectsall designed to excite kids, not overwhelm them. Introductory chapters give excellent advice on safety and tools. -- Asa Christiana, Editor, Fine Woodworking Magazine "Woodshop for Kids" systematically and simply demonstrates how to help children use real tools to make useful objects. -- Deb Curtis, childcare teacher, author, and adult educator....Safety covered at length.....the project instructions are well thought out....recommended. -- Library Journal I highly recommend Woodshop for Kids. -- MaryAnn Kohl, Award winning author and educational consultant I love this book. Woodshop for kids is a great guide to growing a new generation of creative kids. -- Roy Underhill, host of the PBS series the Woodwright's shop From the Author I am a second year pre-K teacher Coincidentally, for Christmas last year, my son's uncle got him your book, "Workshop for Kids." I am just now looking through it for ideas for my class as I prepare for the next few weeks of instruction. I am struck by how well your book suits my needs as an educator of young children. I love to work with wood, and have fond memories of doing so as a young child, but I am no expert. Your advice and directions are clear and simple and give me the confidence that I can knowledgeably present this material to young children. I ESPECIALLY appreciate how you mention what you learned from your own experience with young children so I can anticipate and avoid the same pitfalls. Thank you for being by my side..... as I introduce my young students to the joys of working with wood. Laurie Franzino, Jr. K Teacher Waterside School From the Inside Flap I absolutely love you book and your work. Kami Wilt, Austin Tinkering School
